

Jared Bash, KI4IKL

This is the third year that the Alabama Section has been able to offer the “Alabama Outstanding Youth Ham Of The Year Award”. This award was made possible thanks to the North Alabama DX Club, Icom America, and the ARRL-Alabama Youth Committee.

This year’s recipient of the 2008 Alabama Outstanding Youth Ham Of The Year is someone who is truly passionate about Amateur Radio. He is 14 years old, and currently holds a Technician Class radio license. He has been an instrumental part in getting new young hams active in amateur radio, by assisting them in acquiring their first radio. He has also volunteered at numerous hamfests across Alabama, and helped his father relocate his ham shack. Amateur Radio isn’t the only thing this distinguished individual is involved in. He’s active in Boy Scouts, where he has been awarded various merit badges pertaining to Amateur Radio. He is also a distinguished musician, receiving the Director’s Choice Award and numerous other awards for his outstanding trombone playing.
